

Giorgio Todrani, Mr Sims2Cri 2007, finally tells our webmistress Cri everything about himself... let's see what he will say...

Let's start with an easy question, just to relax you a bit... Where are you from?

Modena, Emilia-Romagna

So you're born and have always lived there?

Yes.

What do you think about your city?

Well, it's only got 18.000 inhabitants so I guess someone could consider it merely a small town, but I'm fine with it.

I hate the chaos you find in big cities... And considering my sense of direction, I manage to get lost even here in Modena

What do you think about travelling for photo shootings and stuff? What if you had to move?

Well, I'm quite lazy... I'm not fond of continually packing and unpacking. Time zones, too, aren't my thing: usually I get used to them the day before leaving

So, if I can, I try to avoid travelling, but if I'm forced I have to adapt... a jet and a private limousine would do! smiles

About moving... I don't know, I'll have to think about it.

Well, I hope you're feeling more relaxed now...

Let's talk about the moment you've been elected Mr Sims2Cri... how did you feel?

Something between surprised and happy.

Was it a hope or just a dream?

Well, I hoped I would get the title, but didn't believe I would. It all started as a game...

Mr Eissc 2007 has been my very first contest and I definitely didn't think I'd get such an important title.

SIMS2CRI

others? Have you already make someone jealous?

I do admit it's difficult not to be impressed by such beauties. There really is a great variety of girls for everyone's taste. Actually, there is a girl that impressed me more than others, but I'd rather not talk about this...

Jealousy? I don't think so.

You're so close towards us... but you do know people love scoops! Could you tell us about your typical day before your title?

Woke up at 7.00. A quick coffee and then in the car, driving in the city traffic to reach my university. After an hour of yawns and horn I would reach my destination and there I stayed until 4.00 p.m. Such a great idea, compulsory attendance!

Then, after another hour in the traffic in order to get home, I literally jumped on my bed and just layed there. The rest of the day was spent between tv and computer.

Are you into any sport?

I swim twice a week. In these rainy nights is more of an annoyance than a pleasure, but you've got to do something. Every years I decide to quit it, but in the end I never do

Of course, to be a model having a fit body is important! What about your night life? What's your typical night out in town?

Well, I don't really have a night life. I'm usually dead tired when I get home. But I do have fun in the weekends. Typical night? Pizza and film with friends. I hate discos.

Tell me three things you couldn't do without.

Oxygen, water and light? No, no, that's too serious... Well, I'd say: my dog, Giorgia's CDs (dad's influence) and a pencil or pen to scribble.

What do you think about beauty? Is it of primary importance?

I admit I have a strange idea of beauty. To me, beauty is perfection... and this reveals a lot about my tastes! But yes, beauty is important, but not of primary importance.

Fast and short answers. Your favourite dish? Colour? Flower or plant?

Lasagne, green, orchid

Have you got any message to all the girls whom you've charmed and keep asking about you?

Erm... no rubs is neck, awkwardly

I won't give you a hard time asking you what you about us, and you've talked so much already! We've asked some of our fans wheter they had any questions for you... so don't blame us for these!

From Ilenia: You've worked for Sims2Cri. How did you get on with the staff? Did you feel rewarded for your role?

As I said, I couldn't hope for anything better. Here on Sims2Cri everyone's been very welcoming to me. At first I was a bit doubtful: I didn't think I was worth my title. Then, thanks to the advice Cri and more experienced models gave me, I became more self confident. I do think I can represent the site at its best now.

From Kady:

1)Well, dearest Giorgio, it's been a while since you've been elected, have you changed or are you still the shy boy we've seen behind the scenes?

Definitely something has changed. Work, fans... Unfortunately, shyness's still here, but I'm working on it. Just two months ago I would have found it dreadful answering this interview.

2)Isabella has just been elected Miss Sims2Cri, so I guess you'll work together soon... What do you think about her looks? Do you like her or maybe you think you could have had a better partner?

She's really good looking. Dark hair, light eyes, ethereal skin... my idealized woman! With her dark and a bit crazy looks she really stood out between the other contestants. I also appreciate her behaviour in the competition: always at her place, never nosing into other people's discussions. About her character, there's not much I can say.. since she's entered the agency it's all been a chaos of interviews, pics and so on... we never had a chance to know each other better. She looks like a determined and self confident woman, but her eyes looks sad and lonely. I wonder what secret she's hiding?

From Lukinik: Who do you like best, both in looks and character, Isabella or Miriam?

In looks, Isabella, but I definitely wouldn't mind Miriam either... About their characters, they're extremely different. Maybe Miriam is more childish, playful. I was surprised by the way she accepted the new miss... laugh Mr 2008, you've been warned! You won't be so lucky! evil grin

From Bluesky: Giò XD Did your life change much after you've become Mister? It's been a 'couple' of months already... do you feel like you're a VIPSSS XD?

You can't imagine how much! I've suggested Cri to move me into the celebrities section, but she hasn't agreed yet... I wonder why. No, really... head's still there, firm on the shoulders, and I hope it stays there for a long time.

Well, after this final line I think I can let you free...

Thank you for answering all these questions, now you can go throw yourself on that couch you've been staring at since the beginning of the interview...
